Parent Teacher Association

There will be a PTA meeting on Tuesday 20th June at 2:30pm here at Queenswood.

The aim of the meeting will be to share ideas about future fundraising activities and also social events.

I hope to see lots of you there.

Parental worries or concerns

I am very aware that lots of parents have been expressing worries or concerns about various things to do with school, either at the school gate or through social media.

In any school there are always a variety of issues at any given time, some only very small, whilst others may be more important. We at Queenswood want to ensure we are taking the best possible care of your children, but we are unable to solve problems we don't know about. Sharing concerns on social media just tends to increase people's unhappiness, without creating any solutions.

I urge you to share with me any worries, however big or small. I am committed to developing a strong trust between the school and you as parents. We must work together to make Queenswood a school we can be proud of.

LA authority review

On Tuesday this week we had our annual local authority review, which is a little like a pretend Ofsted inspection.

This has been really helpful to the governors, school leaders and staff in identifying not only what the school is doing well, but also areas for development.

We are now working hard on our action plan to ensure we continue to always provide the best possible education for all of our children.
